

17 November 2012

We saw a number of people gather to celebrate and observe the 125th anniversary of the official opening of the West Moreton Colliery and the first Open Day for this historic site. You will need to Read More to see pictures and further information about the day.

The following pictures tell the story of the day...

